NEBRASKA SCHOOL EXHIBIT

Arrangements for Display at the Exposition Get Consideration.

COMMISSION DISCUSSES THE SITUATION

Needs of Private Schools to Be Inquired Into-University's Wants Will Be Provided For Without Delny.

Matters bearing upon the educational display to be made by Nebraska schools at the exposition formed almost the sole topic of discussion at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Nebraska Exposition commission at the Millard hotel yesterday morning.

State Superintendent of Instruction W. R. Jackson, who has been appointed by the commission to superintend the collection and installing of the state exhibit Chancellor MacLean of the University of Nebraska and Lieutenant Governor Harris, president of the Lincoln Normal school, appeared before the commission, each on a different errand.

The lieutenant governor appeared to plead the cause of the private schools of the state. He said there are about forty of these schools and a state exhibit with these schools left out would not be a representative exhibit of Nebraska's educational resources. He said a large percentage of the people acquired their education in private schools and the state should foster them as far as may be as they are a desirable addition to educational facilities of the state. asked that in apportioning space to the schools that the private schools be given the same proportionate amount as the public

As a result of the argument of the lieu tenant governor, Superintendent Jackson was instructed by the commission to investigate and report to the board at its next meeting the number of private schools in the state which wish to make an exhibit and the probable amount of space they would ask for. Chairman Neville said he wished it to be distinctly understood that this kistruction did not mean that these schools will be given space by the board, but was simply a preliminary move to determine what is expected in order that the commission may Chancellor MacLeon asked the commission to make some provision for the preparation of the exhibit which will be made by the university. He said some portions of the exhibit are now in the museum at the university. versity, but require overhauling and clean-ing. This is especially true of the forestry exhibit. The bones of the "first residents of Nebraska"—huge animals of various species—require some repairs and fitting together, and this work could be done by the advanced students at odd hours and at small advanced students at odd nours and at small expense. The chancellor said there are twenty-one departments in the university, and all should be represented in the exhibit. To do this would require the preparation of maps and charts by some of them and the purchase of cases in which to display the specimens of all kinds. He estimated that $500 would be required for the work which is necessary, and the purchase of cases and other paraphernalia that will be needed.

Two members of the commission, Secretary Casper and Commissioner Dutton, were absent and the other members preferred to defer final action in this matter until a full meeting, but on motion of Commissioner Boydston an appropriation of $250 was made enable the chancellor to start the work of preparation. Chancellor MacLean then brought up a matter which had been broached before-that of having the cadets of the university at the exposition on the opening day. He requested the commission to render any assistance in its power in securing a campleg ground inside the exposition grounds for the cadets, and said acrangements could be made to have the annual encampment of the cadets at Omana June 2, 3 and 4, the dates required by the rules of the university, and June 1, the exposition opening day, could also be included. The chancellor also asked the commission to give consideration to the apolication of the cadets for positions as guar or attendants during the exposition.

BEAUTY GETS A SQUARE SHOW Judge Neville is Using an Honest Box and a New Desk.

Judge William Neville of North Phitte, vice president of the exposition for Nebraska, is in his glory in the "beauty contest," which he has instituted among the handsome women of Nebraska in order to secure the picture of the two handsomest women in the state to form Nebraska's contribution to the composite picture which is to form the model of the reverse side of the expesition souvenir medal. The judge says he is receiving pic-tures by the hundreds and is simply reveling in beauty. The only thing that is cousing him any uneasiness is the fact that a large number of the handsomest pictures yet re-ceived are not profile views of the subjects, and cannot be considered. He says he is afraid he will be limited in his choice if the women do not comply more strictly with the rule requiring the picture to be a full profile of the head and shoulders.

Judge Neville announces that he will receive pictures until February 1, at which time the lists will close and the process of picking out the two handsomest women in the lot will commence. Asked if he would make the selection himself or call in others to essist in the operation, the judge's face assumed a wounded expression and he answered in a most positive manner, "This is a most important matter and I shall take upon myself the responsibility of deciding the question. This case is being tried without a jury and I taink the question of fact involved can be passed upon by the court without the ussistance of a jury. I shall make my decision shortly after the evidence is all in my hands and the decision will be made public in the newspapers of the state." There is a measure of satisfaction in store for those women who may not be chosen a the representatives of Nebraska beauty. Judge Neville amounces that he will have all the pictures handsomely framed and hung in the retunda of the Nebraska building, so that all comers may see for themselves the counterfeit presentment of the thousands of beautiful women in Nebraska. The judge believes that this display will have a strong effect on immigration to Nebraska, especially among the young men of the gast, and that, as a result, the matrimonial market will experience a wave of prosperity which will bring about thousands of desirable matri-monial alliances. In the opinion of the honorable vice president, this prospect should arouse the patriotism of Nebraska women, especially those living in a state of single blessedness, and result in a still greater number of pictures being received.

NAMES A NEW MUSICAL DIRECTOR

Manager Lindsey Presents the Name The executive committee took action on the appointment of a musical director of the exposition at its regular meeting yesterday afteruoun and Willard Kimball, director of the School of Music of the University of Nebroaka was appointed to the position, pro-vided his plan of music for the exposition re-ceives the approval of the executive com-

The matter was laid before the executive committee by Mr. Lindsey, manager of the Department of Ways and Means, who first withdrew the name of Thomas J. Pennell, which was presented several months ago, but never acted upon, and then submitted the following written report, which was adopted: following written report, which was adopted:

After duly considering the application of the various candidates for the position of musical director of the exposition, I desire to propose and recommend the name of Mr. Willard Kimball, director of the School of Music of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, Mr. Kimball's phenomenal success at Oberlin, O.; Grinnell, Ia., and for the last three years at Lincoln, where he has built up a school of 400 pupils, shows him to be a man of untring energy and perseverance—qualifications necessary to successfully carry on the musical part of the exposition, His studies in Boston and afterward at Leipzig, where he was under the celebrated Carl Reinecke, gave him a thorough musical education, His references show him to be not only master of the piano, but also of the pipe organ, and equally well versed in the science of harmony and musical composition, He has successfully presented at different times the great oratorios and understands the great oratorios and the tion. He has successfully presented at different times the great oratorios and understands the great orchestral writers and their works. He is highly recommended as a reliable business main.

He proposes to take full charge of the musical affairs of the exposition, beginning at once, for the sum of $2,000, on the following conditions: One thousand dollars to be guaranteed and salary to be paid monthly, and the remaining $1,000 to be paid only on condition that the profits of musical entertainments within the Auditorium under his direction reach $2,000. In case the profits exceed the sum of $2,000, he is to share equally with the exposition management in the net receipts above that amount.
The exposition will also employ a stenogment in the net receipts above that amount. The exposition will also employ a stenographer for Mr. Kimball, furnish him office room in Omaha, pay necessary traveling expenses when on exposition business, but no living expenses while in Lincoln or Omaha, Mr. Kimball's plan is substantially the same as that presented in previous reports, contemplating a high order of music and in carrying it out he proposes to use competent local musicians as far as possible.

Mr. Kimball will give all the time neces-sary for the work of this bureau and will be subject at all times to the rules of the exposition and to the Department of Ways and Means, especially in the matter of the expenditure of money, advertising, making contracts, hiring bands, orchestral per-formers, engaging soloists and employes, arranging programs, etc.
In view of the fact that only a few months shall elapse before the opening of the exposition. I request that the executive committee take immediate action upon

R. W. Richardson, special commissi for the Department of Promotion and Pub licity, who has been in Missouri working up nterest in the exposition, appeared before the committee and reported on the result of his labors in that state. He also notified the ommittee that the Missouri Exposition commission will arrive in Omaha over the Bur-lington line at 6:30 a. m. Saturday of this week. The committee authorized the usual courtesies to be extended to the visiting delegation and they will be met at the depot by a committee to be appointed by President Wattles and escorted to the Millard hotel for breakfast. City Council Decides on the Tariff for Circuses and Peddlers.

EFFECT OF NEW ORDINANCE JUST PASSED

conditions of the Exposition Year Taken Into Consideration and Charges Fixed in Anticipation of the Rush.

The ordinances passed by the city counci Caesday night are designed to regulate amuse ment specialties and peddlers during the exposition, and in view of the anticipated influx of these industries, the fees are materially increased, as compared with those now charged. What is known as the circus ordinance covers all sorts of amusements and it provides a system of licenses that will add materially to the revenues of the Board of Education during the year. While the fees are in excess of those provided for In the old ordinance, they are not exorbitant as compared with those which have been charged by other exposition cities. The council takes the position that it is only fair that people who come here to take advantage of the crowds that come to the exposition should make some financial return for the fire and police protection that they will enjoy in common with those who pay the taxes.

Under the new ordinance circuses and menageries are graded according to their size. The fee for circuses that occupy thirty or more cars in transit is $300 for each twenty-four hours; twenty to twenty-nine cars, $200; ten to nineteen cars, $150, and less than ten cars, $50. The license charges for twenty-four hours for other attractions are these: Sideshows, $25; refreshment plands, $10; tight or slack rope performances in the open, $10; concerts, $20; minstrel performances, $20. The annual fee for each theater, or other hall used for public amusement is $200. Freak exhibitions must pay a fee of $5 a day or $25 a week. The fee for variety shows, sleight of hand performances, cyclora-mas, phonographs, kinetoscopes and kindred attractions is $10 a day or $50 a week. Living pictures, mysterious mazes and illusions must pay $15 a day or $60 a week, and "shoot the chutes" concerns are taxed $100 a day. It is provided that these regulations shall not apply to attractions inside the expo-the mayor and council.

The peddlers' licenses have also become more valuable on account of the exposition. The license for wagon peddlers is increased rom $30 to $50 a year. The fee for the list six months is $20 and for the last six months $30. The heaviest fee is attached to the last six months, as these include the bay $15 a year, or $5 for the first six months

GARBAGE INVESTIGATION HANGS ON. Advisory Board Decides to Give the Attorneys Another Show. Neither of the attorneys interested appeared before the Advisory board yesterday to conduct the investigation of the charges preferred by I. J. Dunn against the garbage ractor. Several members of the boar expressed themselves very vigorously, to the effect that the attorneys had played horse with the board long enough, but it was finally decided to give them another chance and the investigation was set for next Wednesday.

On the recommendation of Health Commi sioner Foalding and Chief of Police Gallaghe the board ordered the health department, with the assistance of the chief of police, to close up the old Elkhorn Valley house at Eleventh and Dodge streets. Dr. Spalding reported that the plumbing system of the building was practically destroyed and that the interior had become a nuisance which was a merce to the health of the community. The chie of police explained that the building wa one of the most disreputable houses of as signation in the city and that the owner had assured him that she would be only too giad to have the unsavory occupants removed to she could repair the building in anticipation the exposition

NOVELTY IN BICYCLE ORDINANCES.

Latest Lamp Proposal Contains Some Remarkable Provisions.

At the request of an interested party Counilman Bechel has introduced a new bicycle ordinance which city officials who ride wheels onsider about the most ridiculous piece of legislation on the subject that has yet been sprung. The cedinance provides that all bicycles, tandems, etc., must carry lamps ex-cept on the following streets: Cuming, Dodge Douglas, Harney, Leavenworth, Thirteenth titles by all but one of the Omaha lines. In this manner the tegritory for hundreds of miles out of Omaha in every direction is being well covered.

They are made up from the best Fruit of the Loom muslin, with imported Madras and Percale bosoms and one pair of full size, and full fashioned cuffs to match the bosom are included with each shirt. These shirts are not jobs. They are not the remnants of some bankrupt stock. They are not shirts that have been discarded and returned by dealers on account of imperfections in fit or make. They are new, stylish, thoroughly first class shirts and they are as well worth a dollar each as any shirt you ever paid a dollar for in your life.

They go on sale this morning at 50 cents each while they last and no restrictions to legimate buyers. Dealers and peddlers are not legitimate buyers.
